

Healthcare Practice

The legal issues associated with the delivery of healthcare services have become substantially more complex. Healthcare providers are confronted by an evolving and complicated regulatory environment, shifts in reimbursement programs, shrinking capital sources and an increasingly competitive marketplace. This complexity drives the need for specialized legal services.

Ungaretti & Harris is devoted to meeting the changing needs of the healthcare industry. Our firm of 100-plus lawyers devotes a substantial portion of its firm-wide practice to the legal needs of healthcare providers and other related clients.

Government Practice

Our governmental practice group provides healthcare clients with results-oriented representation before federal, state and local governments and agencies. Our experience includes legislative and executive branch counseling, advocacy, negotiation, and presentations to legislative and administrative bodies.

About the Program

On March 18, 2010, the Illinois Supreme Court handed down its long-awaited opinion in Provena Covenant Medical Center v. Department of Revenue, upholding the Department of Revenue's denial of a property tax exemption for Provena Covenant Medical Center. The decision raises questions concerning the property tax exemption of every not for profit hospital and nursing home in the state of Illinois.

The Healthcare and Government Practice Groups at Ungaretti and Harris LLP are pleased to present our fourth annual healthcare conference addressing the questions Provena raises for other not for profit hospitals and healthcare facilities, including:

- + Are the property tax exemptions of all Illinois hospitals now at risk?
- + What is adequate charitable use?
- + How should you respond to an attempted revocation of your property tax exemption?
- + What are the implications of Health Care Reform on the tax exemption issue?
- + Can there be a legislative solution?
- + What happens now?

Our fourth annual conference will provide timely information from a diverse and highly regarded group of speakers, who will share their insights and viewpoints on these important developments.
